will move from Plato to Foucault and shall include creative, critical and theoretical works.

ENGL 7440 The Postcolonial and India (3,3,0)
This course considers “India” as a site of literary production within colonial and postcolonial discourse before and after Indian independence in 1947. A privileged site in diasporic Anglophone history, India was among the earliest nations to delink its history of English from colonial culture. As both material locus of postcolonial reality, and an imaginary site in language, “India” both constitutes and problematizes contexts of race, class and nation and the canons deriving from these.

Note: The prerequisites for the English courses marked with an asterisk (*) can be waived with the consent of the Head of the Department. All prerequisites, unless otherwise stated, apply to English Majors only.

ENGL 1005 English, Creativity, and Cultures (3,3,0) (E)
This course will (1) examine the changing nature of language, and how creativity forms and transforms the English language and different cultures in English; (2) question and challenge students’ perceptions of language, culture and creativity; (3) reflect on how creativity has played a role in the production of literary and everyday texts; and (4) lay a foundation for linguistic and literary studies.

ENGL 4045 Language in Education (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2005 Introduction to the Study of Language
This course will (1) help students grasp the essential characteristics of children's developing communicative competence at home and school; (2) demonstrate the variations in the level and profile of language development depending on home conditions; (3) enable understanding of the role language plays in school functioning and in learning; (4) enable analysis of educational discourse, whether from the oral conduct of classes, the printed school texts, or, student writings; and (5) familiarize students with the basic policies on language in education.

ENGL 4046 Hong Kong Stories in English (3,3,0)
This course introduces selected Hong Kong stories written by foreign expatriates, Chinese sojourners, and local writers. The students are expected to identify different images of Hong Kong, to apply several critical approaches to analyse the syllabus texts, and to compare and contrast the various literary tropes in oral and written presentations. The instructor may use a mixed teaching mode that includes interactive lectures, small-group tutorials, and experiential learning activities.

ENGL 4047 Perspectives on Universal Themes (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2005 Introduction to the Study of Language
This course will (1) help students relate at a philosophical level the themes in linguistics that cut across disciplines; (2) broaden students' perspectives on the properties of their discipline by placing it in the larger context of academic inquiry; (3) cultivate students' interest in issues outside their field of training.
ENGL 4055 Stories of English (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2005 Introduction to the Study of Language
This course will (1) provide students with an understanding of the historical development and of the present state of the English language around the world; and (2) familiarize students with both the internal and external principles of language change and language diversity.

ENGL 4056 Theoretical Linguist Meets World (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2005 Introduction to the Study of Language
This course will (1) enable students to relate and apply their training in theoretical linguistics to a wider spectrum of disciplines and to the practicalities of daily life; (2) broaden students’ perspectives on the relevance of other disciplines to linguistics; (3) cultivate a sense of a larger academic context; and (4) provide greater interdisciplinary scope.

ENGL 4057 Unravelling Syntax (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2005 Introduction to the Study of Language
This course will (1) introduce current theories of grammar, and the major contemporary research on formal syntax in particular; and (2) familiarize students with the explanatory aims of syntactic theorizing.

ENGL 4056 Dystopian Fiction (3,3,0) (E)
This course aims to help students identify and discuss characteristics and types of dystopias as illustrated through a range of cultural expressions (fiction, film, art, photography, current events, politics, etc.). Students are also encouraged to analyse and critique dystopian texts through various lenses (political, cultural, moral, contemporary, and literary) and through various means (papers, discussions, group presentations).

ENGL 4066 World Literatures (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
This course examines the conceptualization and historical moments of “literatures in the world.” It looks at two examples of literary imagination travelling in the world, with a focus on the historical transformation of the idea of the Mongol Empire since the eighteenth century up to present times. The two cases comprise literary imaginations and constructions travelling around the world, as expressions of such industrial and global formations such as expansive colonialism, civilizational universalism, economic globalization, and global tourism. Together, these instances of travel demand that we rethink the linear structure of (comparative) literary history. Eventually, this course shows students of literature and culture in the twenty-first century how and why historical, comparative, critical, and imaginative work sustains the Auerbachian humanist tradition.

ENGL 4067 Comics and Graphic Novels (3,3,0) (E)
The course will be organized into approximately four thematic groupings: revisionist narratives within the mainstream, memoirs and confessional, new journalism, and auteur comix. The texts will be chosen based not only on historical impact, verifiable influence or general popularity with readers but also with an eye to comics that experiment and expand the boundaries of the medium. So, while students will recognize some familiar names and titles, there will also be some less well-known books represented.

ENGL 4075 Special Topic in Comparative Literature (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies or others as may be required depending upon the topic offered
This course will provide advanced students with an opportunity to explore selected topics in comparative literary studies in depth.

ENGL 4076 21st Century Fiction (3,3,0) (E)
This course will consider the impact of global popular culture on works of literature around the world from 2000 to the present. It will also explore twenty-first century works of fiction through a variety of critical and theoretical lenses, such as transnationalism, posthumanism, postmodernism, poststructuralism and the post-postcolonial. Students will learn to evaluate the work of specific writers and their contribution to the development of twenty-first century literature.

ENGL 4077 Detective Fiction (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
This course will analyse the development of detective fiction and explore the sub-genres of detective fiction, such as the hardboiled mode, the police procedural, the historical crime fiction, and the metaphysical detective stories. Students will learn to critique detective stories through the lens of structuralist, feminist, narrative, Marxist, postcolonial, and deconstructionist theories.

ENGL 4085 Special Topic in Literature (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies or others as may be required depending upon the topic offered
This course will (1) provide advanced students with an opportunity to study and discuss selected topics in literary and critical studies; and (2) prepare students for further study in the same (or related) special topic.

ENGL 4086 Shakespeare and His Contemporaries (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
This course will (1) explore Shakespeare’s works in light of the social, political, and philosophic contexts of Renaissance drama; and (2) examine the selected plays produced by Shakespeare and his contemporaries.

ENGL 4087 Special Topic in Critical Theory (3,3,0) (E)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2077 Western Critical Approaches to Literature
This course will (1) provide the in-depth study of a specific area within modern literary/cultural theory; and (2) sharpen students' analytical and interpretive skills through an engagement with basic questions about literary/cultural practice using a particular theoretical perspective.

ENGL 4095 Gender and Literature (3,3,0) (E)
This course will explore gender-related issues through a variety of critical and theoretical lenses, such as essentialism, poststructuralist feminism, queer theory, and cyborg identity. Students will learn to evaluate the work of specific writers and their contribution to the development of gender theory in literature.

ENGL 4096 Diaspora Writing in English (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
This course offers a theoretical and literary study of Chinese memoirs in English and explores the political and ethical implications of writing in the post-Cold-War era and within the context of global capitalism. By tracing the cultural and political topicality of such events as the “Cultural Revolution” as a subject for popular history writing, this course will focus on the following topics: life writing, popular history, trauma, global capitalism, English as lingua franca.

ENGL 4097 Gothic Literature (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
This course will examine the development of Gothicism and explore the impact of gothic literature on popular culture from the eighteenth century to the present. Students will learn to evaluate the changing representations of monsters, vampires, and zombies in different socio-political, gender, and ideological contexts; as well as to explore the impact of gothic literature on popular culture from the eighteenth century to the present.
ENGL 4105 Comparative Drama (3,3,0)
Prerequisite: ENGL 2007 Literary and Comparative Studies
The course will compare and explore different theories and styles of drama from various countries, and examine significant works of drama from anywhere in the world. It will also investigate and posit the selected texts in their social, political, and theoretical contexts.

ENGL 4106 Literary Journalism (3,3,0)
Literary Journalism provides a forum within which to explore post-1960s avant-gardist and genre-bending journalistic texts, from shorter pieces to novel-length ones to cinematic documentary. We will decipher and decode some groundbreaking reportage-based texts, including shorter pieces, a novella, two novels, and a feature-length documentary so as to emphasize how each of these is at once what it is and not what it is. Each of the texts we shall examine, and each of the texts we will write, will mediate upon, and mediate the particular cultural conditions of, the author-journalist’s role in delivering and repackaging and critiquing—and (re)creating—the newsworthy.

ENGL 4107 Postcolonial Fiction (3,3,0)
This course will typically consider four or five English-language contemporary texts from different regions of the globe such as Roy’s The God of Small Things, Erdrich’s The Last Report on the Miracle’s at Little No Horse, Eggers’s What is the What, and Thompson’s Habitni or other selected texts. Our critique of (self)consciously politicized boundaries will involve exploring the thesis that newer national agendas reproduce colonial missions, the tension between ideology and aesthetics, and how the politically-charged management of literary production, dissemination, and criticism discards (or works to ignore) the literary nature of a work in and of itself. Particular attention will be paid to narratology and the phenomenology of reading when assessing the conscientious representation of themes including caste, motherhood, women, beautification, poverty, waste, untouchability, hate, desire, tourism, exile, emigration, performance, holiness, scandal, and nostalgia in texts, such as those listed above, depicting such far-flung places as Christian India, a native North American reserve, war-torn Sudan, and a romanticized (and timeless) Middle-East.

ENGL 4898-9 Honours Project (3,0,3)
This course will (1) require students to demonstrate their knowledge of the field within their selected topic, their research skills, as well as their ability to express their ideas in a persuasive and well-structured exegesis; and (2) engage the student in independent research and the production of an extensive research or creative project.

EPHM 7010 Sustainable Management Systems (3,3,0) (E)
The course covers different management approaches to sustainability from local to global perspectives. Focus will be on how environmental management system and environmental impact assessment can help achieve the goal of environmental sustainability.

EPHM 7020 Management of Public Health Risks (3,3,0) (E)
This course focuses on understanding the range, limitations and impact of public health policies. It also trains students to develop skills to identify the principal factors imposing impacts on human and other environmental species and to assess the significance of emerging issues in an objective manner.

EPHM 7040 Land and Water Resources Management (3,3,0) (E)
This course provides background information on water, soil and vegetation, as well as the effects of industrial and economic development on land quality and water safety. Different strategies on land and water resources management for sustainable development are also discussed.

EPHM 7050 Integrated Waste Management (3,3,0) (E)
The amount of waste/solid waste produced every day is tremendous and ways of properly handling and disposing them permanently have always been in demand. The course explores and compares different options and strategies in reducing, handling, and treatment of solid waste with due emphasis on the importance of adopting an integrated approach in managing waste.

EPHM 7070 Research and Environmental Monitoring Methodology (3,3,0) (E)
The course focuses on different approaches and methods to conduct environmental monitoring and environmental research. Basic principles of these research and monitoring methods will be dealt with adequately so that students will be able to formulate their own research or monitoring strategies to deal with new environmental problems when they have completed the course.

EPHM 7110 Principles of Environmental Management (3,3,0) (E)
This course studies ecosystems and its relationship with atmospheric, hydrological and geomorphological systems. The impacts of human activities on the delicate balance of ecosystems, as well as the ethical bases of conservation biology, will also be examined. The course introduces the basic principles in environmental management, illustrates scientific principles by building on worldwide and familiar examples, and encourages students to become personally involved with solving environmental problems.

EPHM 7311-2 MSc Dissertation (3,,)
This project is designed for students to apply and integrate theories learnt to real-life problems so that better understanding of the environmental issues will be resulted. Through the execution of the project, students will also learn the proper ways of conducting research and preparing documents for review.

EPHM 7320 Occupational Health and Safety Management (3,3,0) (E)
This course provides an understanding on occupational health and safety with due emphasis on a variety of commonly adopted management approaches and methods. This includes the identification procedures for the principal causes of ill health and poor safety at workplace and strategies for eliminating or ameliorating them. The legal and operational aspects of occupational health and safety are also adequately dealt with.

EPHM 7330 Food Quality, Law and Safety Management (3,3,0) (E)
The course is designed to introduce students to the growing consumer demand in food safety and growing awareness of the food industry in the importance of maintaining high food quality. It covers the principles and international standards of food quality and safety management, and provides an understanding of the legislative control related to food quality, safety and human health protection in Hong Kong and other places.

EPHM 7340 Carbon and Energy Management (3,3,0) (E)
This course provides students with an understanding on carbon and energy management with due emphasis on a variety of commonly adopted management approaches and methods. This includes carbon accounting or the identification and quantification of greenhouse gas emission sources and sinks, carbon footprinting of products and services, carbon neutrality, energy audit and management, measurement and verification of energy performance projects, and the related carbon and energy standards.

ERMT 2005 Global Environmental Issues (3,,) (E)
This course aims to provide an introduction to global environmental issues for students with or without a science background. Special emphasis will be placed on the evaluation of the impacts of human activities on the environment and the examination of solutions to environmental problems.
